CHEYENNE, Wyo. (P) — "Extremely heavy" livestock losses were feared today in the wake of a fierce arctic storm whose 16-foot snowdrifts have paralyzed parts of Wyoming and Montana.

Hundreds of motorists and rural residents stranded by the two-day storm are believed safe and in no danger.

Entire cities in the northeast part of the state still are isolated from highway and air travel, however. Some trains resumed their schedules with difficulty early today as winds continued to drift snow everywhere in the stricken area.

An estimated 400 to 500 persons were stranded at Douglas, in east central Wyoming. Officials said all are believed to have sufficient food and shelter.

Seventy motorists stalled along a 47-mile stretch between Lusk

Big McCormick Estate Set Up In Trust Funds

CHICAGO (P) — Most of the vast publishing empire of Col. Robert R. McCormick has been left in trust for charity and education.

This was revealed Tuesday in the reading of his will. He died Friday at the age of 74 after two years' illness. The will was executed last Dec. 18 and is expected to be filed for probate this week.

The editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune named three men as executors who likewise assumed management of the paper. They are Chesser M. Campbell, vice president of the Tribune Co., who was elevated to president by the board of directors; William D. Maxwell, formerly managing editor of the paper and now placed in charge of the editorial department; and J. Howard Wood, treasurer of the Tribune Co. and now in charge of the business, advertising and circulation departments of the paper.

Million For Farm

After disposing of numerous individual bequests and annuities, the will provided for the remainder of the estate to be established in two trusts. No value of the estate's holdings was disclosed. They include, however, McCormick's shares of stock of the Tribune and his beneficial interests in the McCormick-Patterson Trust.

This trust owns controlling stock interest in the Tribune Co., which in turn is the parent company for the New York Daily News; various Canadian newspaper manufacturing and transportation subsidiaries; radio and television stations WGN, Chicago, and WPXI, New York, and other subsidiaries.

At the time of his death McCormick's beneficial interest was the largest individual holding in the McCormick-Patterson Trust.

One of the charitable trusts set up in McCormick's will was allotted a million dollars to maintain Cantigny Farm, McCormick's home estate in suburban Wheaton, as a public park and museum after his widow "shall cease to reside there." Included are the land, buildings and contents, including McCormick's library on freedom of speech and of the press and on military science.

Widow Gets Million

The second trust, to be known as the Robert R. McCormick Charitable Trust, is to be used for religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational purposes.

Included in these objectives are relief of the needy and distressed, aid to indigent widows and children of officers and ex-officers of the U. S. Army, endowment of free beds, scientific research and equipment for Chicago's Passavant Hospital, annual tuition for deserving and needy Illinois boys at the Citadel, the military college.

Kidnaper Lures Girl With Candy

DETROIT (P) — The abductor of 7-year-old Barbara Gaca gave her two kinds of candy before he killed her, a pathologist's report showed today.

Dr. E. W. Kivela of the State Health Department said an analysis of Barbara's stomach revealed traces of chocolate covered mints and milk chocolate with a gelatinous filling.

He estimated that Barbara was slain three to four hours after she was abducted on her way to school March 24.

Detroit police, given the pathologist's report, said the candy could have been used either to lure the little girl into the abductor's car or to pacify her once she became apprehensive after being in the car.

Barbara was raped and stabbed to death. Her body was found last Thursday on a dump in adjoining Oakland County.

Chief of Detectives Marvin G. Lane called a meeting of 60 detectives late yesterday to review all evidence gathered so far in the case. But police admit they have no tangible clues.

Election Figures Shift Lead To 3 Republicans

ARMY COUNSEL — Frank G. Millard of Flint, Mich., is the Army's new general counsel. The former attorney general for Michigan replaces John G. Adams, controversial figure in last year's Army-McCarthy squabble. Millard will begin his new duties May 1.

Stevenson No. 1 Democratic Hope

WASHINGTON (P) — Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan said today Adlai E. Stevenson is a shoo-in for the Democratic presidential in 1956.

Sparkman, Stevenson's 1952 vice presidential running mate, said he is convinced Gov. Averell Harriman of New York "will not be a candidate for the nomination against Stevenson."

"Stevenson is the only candidate we have right now," Sparkman declared.

There have been reports some New York party leaders would like to get Harriman in the race, despite the governor's statement he favors Stevenson.

Williams, who said he doesn't consider himself a contender, said in a separate interview that Stevenson "can have the Democratic nomination for the asking."

Williams and Sparkman said they believe the Democratic nominee has a good chance of winning.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) said anybody who thinks it may be impossible for his party's candidate to defeat President Eisenhower in 1956 "ought to start adding up the city halls, the courthouses and the statehouses the Democrats have taken over."

Eisenhower has given no indication whether he intends to run again.

Admiral Denies War Prediction

WASHINGTON (P) — Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said today American "saber rattling" in the Far East should end with Adm. Robert B. Carney's denial that he predicted an early Communist attack in the Formosa Strait.

Kefauver said in an interview there has been too much talking by admirals and generals who, he said, ought to be carrying out policies and not influencing policy decisions.

Carney, chief of naval operations, was asked at a Senate Appropriations subcommittee hearing Tuesday if he has changed his mind about the possibility of a mid-April attack on the Nationalist-held islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

"I have not changed my mind because I never made such a statement," the admiral replied.

Carney has been named as the source of news stories which appeared 10 days ago, after a "background" briefing for newsmen, and which said variously that the Communists would attack about mid-April or that they would be capable of attacking then.

President Eisenhower told his news conference last week he has no evidence that an attack is imminent. In what was generally regarded as a rebuke to Carney, he added that he didn't think so much talk about war helps the cause of peace.

Sir Anthony Eden Takes Over As Prime Minister Of Britain

LONDON (P) — Sir Anthony Eden, who once walked out of the government rather than appease continental dictators, became Britain's prime minister today. He is the 42nd man to hold the nation's highest political office, and the youngest in three decades.

The 57-year-old diplomat—first divorced man in history to be named premier—kissed the hand of Queen Elizabeth II and accepted her appointment to succeed his longtime political mentor, Sir Winston Churchill, who retired Tuesday at 80 because of his age.

No Newspapers

Trumpets of the horse guards band sounded in the distance, like a herald of the new political era, as the handsome, debonair statesman in frock coat left Buckingham Palace under pale sunshine to drive back to his new duties.

The gray capital, with all its newspapers on strike, got news of the historic changeover in a palace communique read over the British Broadcasting Corp. The text:

"The Queen received the Right Hon. Sir Anthony Eden, MP, in audience this morning and offered him the post of prime minister and first lord of the Treasury. Sir Anthony Eden accepted her majesty's offer and kissed her hand upon his appointment."

Changes In Cabinet

Churchill's political crown prince of more than 13 years fidgeted nervously with his tie and frequently smoothed his gray hair as he arrived at the palace—12 minutes early—for his 11 a. m. appointment with the sovereign.

But, on the return journey after his 40-minute interview in the Queen's private apartments, he appeared at ease and confident. A crowd of 3,000—many unaware, of what was going on—watched his sleek black limousine depart.

"Good luck to you, Sir Anthony!" a small crowd shouted on his return to the foreign office in Downing Street to wind up his business there.

"Thanks, Thank you all very much," he replied with a wave and a nod of his iron-gray head.

His first major duty as prime minister was to pick his Cabinet and several important changes were expected.

Early Election Expected

The biggest was the naming of his own foreign secretary. The general assumption in London was that the nod would go to Defense Minister Harold MacMillan, 60, a director of the MacMillan Publishing Co. and a wartime friend of President Eisenhower.

Eden's succession to No. 10 Downing St. touched off the first heavy shots in the campaign for the general election he is expected to call within months. Many politicians are expected to vote as early as May 26.

Rebel Opposition Heard

Even while Eden was at the palace leftwing Laborite rebel Aneurin Bevan cut loose with a political blast which tipped the line that many Socialists are likely to take in the drive to unseat the Conservative party.

"Scarcely adequate to meet the challenge of the new hydrogen age," Bevan wrote in the weekly Tribune, adding:

"The problem for Sir Anthony Eden is that he does not possess a personal ascendancy over the rest of his colleagues."

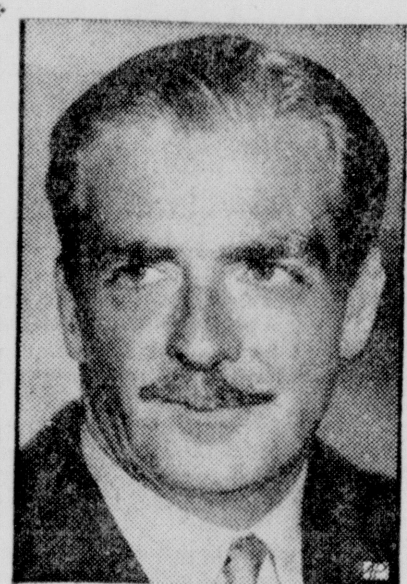

Therefore, Bevan charged, Britain is likely to pass from personal to "committee" leadership, with no strong hand at the helm.

Eden, like Churchill a friend and staunch ally of the United States, was certain to carry out many of the policies he and his old chief worked out together in the years of their close partnership. That association began as far back as 1938, when Eden—then 41—quit the government of Neville Chamberlain in a dramatic protest against appeasing the Axis dictators.

Married To Niece

Eden's forceful refusal to give way was one of the political steps that first brought him under the personal wing of Churchill.

"He seems to me at this moment to embody the life-hope of the British nation," Churchill said at the time.

Churchill re-appointed him to the foreign secretaryship soon after he took over as prime minister May 10, 1940, eight months after the outset of World War II. Again when Churchill returned to No. 10 Downing St., in 1951 after six years of Laborite rule in the country, the war leader called his protégé to direct foreign relations.

Their association was so close that it ultimately led to a merger of their two families. Eden divorced his first wife, the wealthy Beatrice Beckett, in 1950 on grounds of desertion. Two years later he married Churchill's niece, Clarissa Churchill, now 34.

Thus a Churchill will still occupy historic No. 10 in the role of official hostess.

Ex-Wife In New York

The divorce in the background of the new Premier was seen here as a sign of the changing times. For a divorced man to have served as the sovereign's first minister would have been unthinkable as recently as 20 years ago.

The social upheavals of World War II, which led to a sharp rise in the divorce rate in peacetime, had wrought deep-seated changes

Democrats Fail To Sweep All State Offices

DETROIT (P) — Democrats led in five and Republicans in three of Monday's Michigan spring state election races on the basis of unofficial totals today from all but 25 of 4,783 precincts.

A handful of precincts reporting later from usually Democratic Macomb County, north of Detroit, reversed a morning trend which sent Republican Dale Stafford ahead in one race for the State Board of Agriculture.

It also widened a Democratic lead for one of two University of Michigan Board of Regents positions. Earlier, the lead had thinned sharply.

Returns Straggle In

The cleanup of straggling returns, with most of the missing 25 in Republican areas, came 24 hours after Democrats seemed to have swept all eight offices.

Six are educational administrative jobs. Two are Supreme Court seats.

The see-sawing of trends in late counting indicated final results in all but one or two races were uncertain pending official canvasses and possibly official recounts.

Stafford, Greenville newspaper publisher running for the Agriculture Board which governs Michigan State College, was ahead in mid-morning by 433 votes. But later he dropped 3,685 votes behind two Democrats leading for the two seats to be filled.

Herbert Slips

Republican J. Joseph Herbert of Manistiquette, present chairman of the Board of Regents, gained heavily in morning counts but later dropped 6,032 votes behind. Leading for the two Regents offices were two Democrats.

Democrats thus led for both Regents jobs, for one Supreme Court seat, and for both Michigan State College positions.

One Republican led by a heavy margin and probably won one Supreme Court position. Two other Republicans led by slim edges in the races for Superintendent of Public Instruction and the State Board of Education.

Figures Come Slow

The delayed returns first reflected the late arrival of usually Republican outstate counties, cutting in Democratic leads rolled up early with complete returns from Democratic Detroit metropolitan areas. Later they reflected missing Democratic precincts from just outside Detroit.

The later trend in favor of the Democrats cheered party workers, led by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, a 1956 presidential possibility, and organized labor forces. They aimed to sweep all eight

Chicago Remains Democratic; Daley Wins By 127,000

CHICAGO (P) — Democratic forces retained their long dominance of Chicago politics today after turning back a determined GOP assault and electing Richard J. Daley mayor by some 127,000 votes.

The Republican attempt to wrest control of the city crumpled in yesterday's election. Complete unofficial returns gave Daley 708,660 votes and Alderman Robert E. Marriam 581,461.

Although decisive, the result was one of the closest since Anton

Manager Picked At Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS (P) — Donald M. Oakes, 41-year-old city manager of Berkley, Mich., was offered and accepted the post of Grand Rapids city manager Tuesday.

He was the only candidate considered, other than George W. Welsh, the incumbent.

Oakes next month will replace Welsh, who is completing a one-year term as manager.

Welsh, who is 72, told the city commission recently he may be closing his public career during which he served 10 years as mayor. He has held two terms as city manager.

Welsh is also a former lieutenant governor and former speaker of the House of Representatives at Lansing. He operates a printing business here.

Oakes is expected here April 15 to meet city department heads and plans to move here early in May.

Oakes was one of three candidates for the local manager post who were interviewed by city commissioners last month. The others, N. G. DaMoore, city manager of Ypsilanti, and Edward M. Schafter, city manager of Royal Oak, insisted on general support of the seven-member city commission as a condition of coming here.

Lanza Gives Up $100,000 Job

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (P) — Where does Mario Lanza go from here? That was the question the show world pondered today after the tenor failed to appear and was fired from the world's highest salaried night club date. The Hotel New Frontier Tuesday canceled Lanza's contract, which called for $100,000 for two weeks of singing twice a night.

Lanza, his wife Betty, their four children and two nurses were scheduled to motor back to Hollywood today. The rest of their entourage pulled out Tuesday night.

Lanza apparently will go back to the movies. He is under contract to Warner Bros. for the James M. Cain story "Serenade."

The cause of his pullout from the much publicized show here is still clouded. A local doctor examined him early Tuesday morning and said he was in physical shape to sing. But a later meeting of his backers decided that he could not sing last night. The Hotel New Frontier's bosses then ruled that his contract had been broken.

Bandits Make Huge $300,000 Haul At Queens, N. Y., Bank

NEW YORK (P) — Gunmen today robbed a Queens bank of an estimated $300,000 — apparently the largest cash haul ever from a bank.

The estimate of the money was given to newsmen by Queens Dist. Atty. T. Vincent Quinn after he conferred with bank officials.

Four men, one carrying a machine gun, herded 11 employees of the Chase Manhattan bank's Woodside branch into the rear of the premises and made a clean getaway.

A $190,319 cash holdup of a Franklin National Bank branch in Floral Park, on Long Island, in 1953 was regarded then as the record cash holdup of a bank.

Seven men robbed a Lincoln, Neb., bank of $226,700 in 1930, but only $25,000 of that was in cash.

Almost simultaneously with the Queens robbery, three masked and armed men entered a jewelry firm in neighboring Manhattan and escaped with $75,000 to $100,000 worth of diamonds.

The bank robbers today first waylaid Henry Bardenhagen, 24, the bank's chief clerk, in his automobile.

Bardenhagen, 24, gave police this story: He was driving from his home at 43-42 45th St., Woodside, and hand stopped at about 8:35 a.m. for a traffic light at 45th St. and Queens Blvd.

A man with a gun approached him and ordered him into the back seat. As he complied, three other men jumped into the car.

The robbers drove to the bank and entered it with Bardenhagen. He and employees already there were tied up and placed in a vault.

As other employees entered, two of the men tied them up and placed them with those already bound in the vault. The other two meanwhile took the money.

The robbers left by a back door and made their getaway in Bardenhagen's car. Police said that when they abandoned it they presumably had another car waiting to continue their flight.

Kansas Woman Has Her 38th Operation

WICHITA, Kan. (P) — Mrs. Blondella Wert is recuperating nicely from her 38th operation and says she is going to live another 50 years.

"I believe this is my last operation," says the cheerful 55-year-old patient in St. Francis hospital. "I don't know what else they could take out."

In the past 22 years, she says, she has gone to surgery in 14 hospitals in half a dozen cities for an assortment of ailments. They include hernia, removal of a kidney, gall bladder, appendix, numerous tumors, a cancer, some of her intestines, both breasts and various other parts of her anatomy.

Don't feel sorry, though. "I've lived an active, useful, happy life so far and I expect to go on living that way," is how she explains the time she spends between operations.

And her doctor says she just might live the next 50 years as she says she will.

"She is doing very well," he said. "She had an ulcer this time and it was necessary to remove a part of her stomach. But she is about ready to go back home now."

When she is a little stronger, Mrs. Wert expects to go back to work, perhaps as a saleswoman

Begin Cancer Fund Campaign

Approximately 300 women in Escanaba will during the next two weeks join the crusade against cancer by soliciting funds for the annual Cancer Fund Campaign. Throughout Delta Co., many volunteer workers will carry the campaign to every community in an effort to raise $4,500, the quota set for Delta County by the American Cancer Society.

Of this $4,500, one-half will be used here in the county to assist cancer patients by furnishing surgical dressings at home or in the hospital, by supplying home patients with beds, wheel chairs and other sick room articles, and by giving financial aid in emergency cases to patients in need of such service.

A portion of the money will be used in the educational program in an effort to make people aware of the symptoms of cancer and of the real possibility of curing the disease if taken in time. According to the American Cancer Society statistics, one out of every four people will be a victim of cancer during 1955. This number has been increasing every year — but the great number of cured cases has also been increasing. Early detection and improved medical treatments have made this possible.

There are many cases of cancer in Delta County. Any number of them are in the process of being cured, but Dr. William C. Harrison of the Delta-Menominee Health Department reports that 30 people died of cancer in Delta County in 1954. Early recognition of the symptoms and prompt medical attention will save many lives in the future.

The American Cancer Society is to a very large extent responsible for making the public alert to cancer, and with the money raised in annual campaigns bringing about great advances in treatment of the disease through its vast and costly program of research.

Baby Heart Surgery Gets Good Results

DETROIT (AP)—Doctors have reported encouraging success in infant heart operations to the American Academy of Pediatrics today.

Success with babies as young as 3 weeks was described. Improved techniques, better methods of diagnosis and modern anesthesia are responsible, doctors said.

Dr. Herbert Sloan of the University of Michigan predicted within a few years 80 to 90 per cent of congenital heart defects in babies will be "amenable to surgery."

Dr. F. Mason Stones of the Cleveland Clinic reported a series of operations on 13 children less than a year old. Only one child died. All had faced early death without operation, Dr. Stones said.

SOES Thanks Voters For Their Support

Pointing to a "heritage of united community effort" and an "even greater future" for Escanaba, the Save Our Electrical System Volunteers and the woman's division of the S. O. E. S. today issued a statement thanking the voters for their victory in Monday's election.

The complete text of the statement follows:

"After the people's decision Monday we are at a loss for proper word to express the many thoughts crowding through our minds. First is our inability to adequately express our sincere thanks to the very many people, some of whom we know and many unknown to us, for their help in the recent campaign. It was a great victory against tremendous odds. To all of you we humbly regret that it is not humanly possible to say more than, 'THANK YOU'."

Here in Escanaba we have a great heritage of united community effort behind us. We have an even greater future ahead of us. As with all good communities our greatest asset is the fundamentally good people of this city. It is from such experiences as Monday that we gain a renewed faith in ourselves, our City, our State and our Nation.

"For the present we have every confidence that our Escanaba City Council will proceed immediately to consideration of the remaining two methods of solving our electrical problem, the Alger - Delta proposal and the proposed new municipal plant. We are also confident that our City Councilmen will have the welfare of all of the people in their minds as they take their next step in this matter.

"For the future, after we have reached a final decision, we feel that we can do no better than to revive the old slogan and be united in our efforts to really KEEP ESCANABA AHEAD."

Light To Control Windy Orators

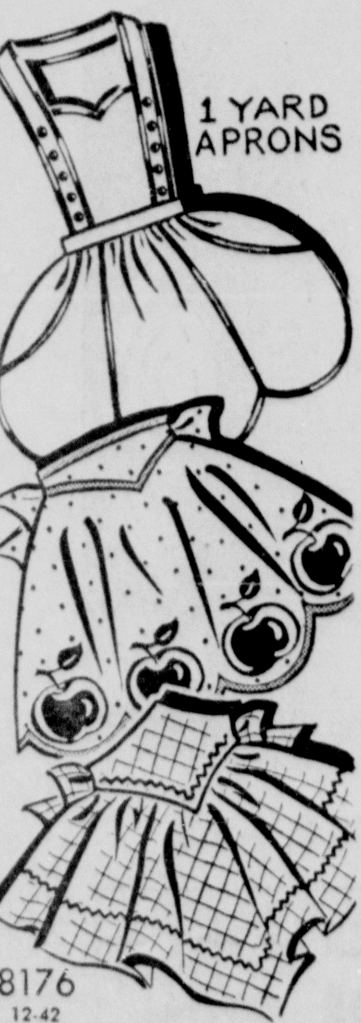

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Traffic lights for speakers which say "go", "get ready to stop" and "halt" have been developed by the Industrial Timer Corp. And for those who ignore the visual signs, the device has a buzzer which tells the speaker to sit down.
Larry Neidenberg, general manager of the company, says the gadget is planned for use in schools and legislative halls.
Says Neidenberg:
"When the talk starts, the chairman pushes a button which lights a green light in front of the speaker. An amber light warns the speaker one minute before time runs out.
"When his time is finished a red light goes on. If the speaker ignores that, the chairman presses a "gavel button" to set off a raucous buzzing."

Farmer Not Faring Too Well

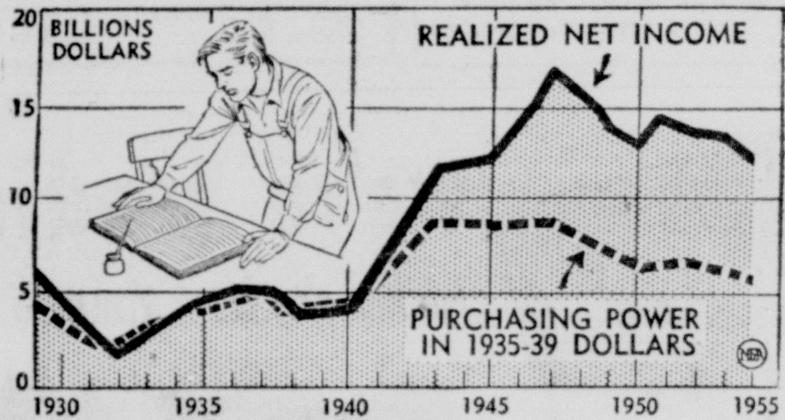

Things are not too rosy for the nation's farmer, as indicated by Newscharts below. They show that he is caught between a squeeze of lower earnings and higher costs.

STALEMATE—The beginning of 1955 found the nation's farmer at a standstill economically. Although the chart above indicates a rise in the prices he received in the month ending January 15, it also shows he paid more for his own needs, so the parity ratio was unchanged. Data from Department of Agriculture.

FARMER EARNS LESS, BUYS LESS—The American farmer's income, as graph shows, has been steadily going down since its 1947 peak. What's worse, the value of the dollars he does make has been sinking since inflation set in around 1940. So, in 1954, he not only earned fewer dollars but he bought less with the ones he did make, because the purchasing power of the dollar dropped 11 per cent from its 1933 value. Data from Department of Agriculture.

COST OF MECHANIZATION—Farmers spent more than 10 billion dollars annually for the goods and services they need for farming. That's material they buy outside and doesn't include feed, seed, etc. This is more than four times as much as they spent annually for such goods and services in 1935-39. Price increases account for about half of the increase in these expenditures, according to the Department of Agriculture.

Meanwhile on the eastern front the Russians captured Koenigsberg, a Nazi stronghold, April 9 and Vienna, April 13. The Russians' enveloping drive against Berlin began April 14 with the 1st Ukrainian Army's attack on the Neiss River front. The decisive battle in the frontal assault on the German capital by Marshal Georgi Zhukov's 1st White Russian Army began the night of April 15. In Italy the 15th Army group composed of the U. S. 5th made a new effort to break out of the mountains southwest of Bologna. In the Pacific U. S. troops invaded Tawitawi Island in the Sulu Archipelago April 2. Six Japanese warships were sunk by U. S. carrier planes April 6. The next day about one hundred B28s, escorted by fighter planes for the first time, raided Nagoya and Tokyo.

Texas Autoists Stick To Guns

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas automobile drivers have told a state representative they don't want to lay that pistol down.

Rep. Charles Sandahl of Austin told reporters Monday he'd decided not to ask State Legislature action on his bill requiring firearms to be unloaded, wrapped, cased or locked up when carried in trucks or autos.

Texans, he said, don't want to change their gun-totin' habits. He waved a bulky sheaf of telegrams and letters of protest.

"Apparently so many people want to carry a loaded gun in their car that the bill may not come up," he said.

He said his measure was designed to cut down on hunters accidents and to prevent hunters from illegally cruising in their autos instead of stalking game on foot as prescribed by Texas law.

H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the State Game and Fish Commission, said protests to his agency called the proposal "an encroachment of rights." Gun owners say such a law would remove their rights of self-protection, he added.

Texas law allows a gun to be carried for purposes of self-defense while traveling, but it is illegal to step from the automobile with a loaded gun of any type.

Council Will Meet Thursday

The Escanaba City Council will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday in City Hall, with Mayor Harlan Yelland presiding. A variety of business is scheduled to come before the Council, according to the agenda prepared by City Manager A. V. Aronson.

A report of the city canvassing board on the results of last Monday's election will be supplied to the Council.

In that election the citizens of Escanaba rejected a proposal to sell the city's electric distribution system to the Upper Peninsula Power Company. Whether the Council will discuss other proposals to remedy the local power shortage has not been announced. Other business scheduled to come before the Council is as follows:

Request for transfer of an SDM license from Gust Anderson, 401 S. 10th St., to Neil Larson, who is to operate the business at that location.

An amendment to the building code ordinance, approval of 1955 liquor licenses, and an ordinance to vacate an alley in the Rice Addition (5th Ave. and 23rd Street) will be considered.

Two petitions will come before the Council: Requesting the city to erect a stop-and-go light at the Y intersection of US-241 and Washington Ave.; and to have an artificial ice rink in a proposed community building.

Guard Company Receives Award On Anniversary

Approximately 70 persons attended the Manistique National Guard's observance of its 6th birthday anniversary Saturday night in the National Guard armory, and heard Mayor A. W. Heitman praise the company for its cooperation with civic organizations here.

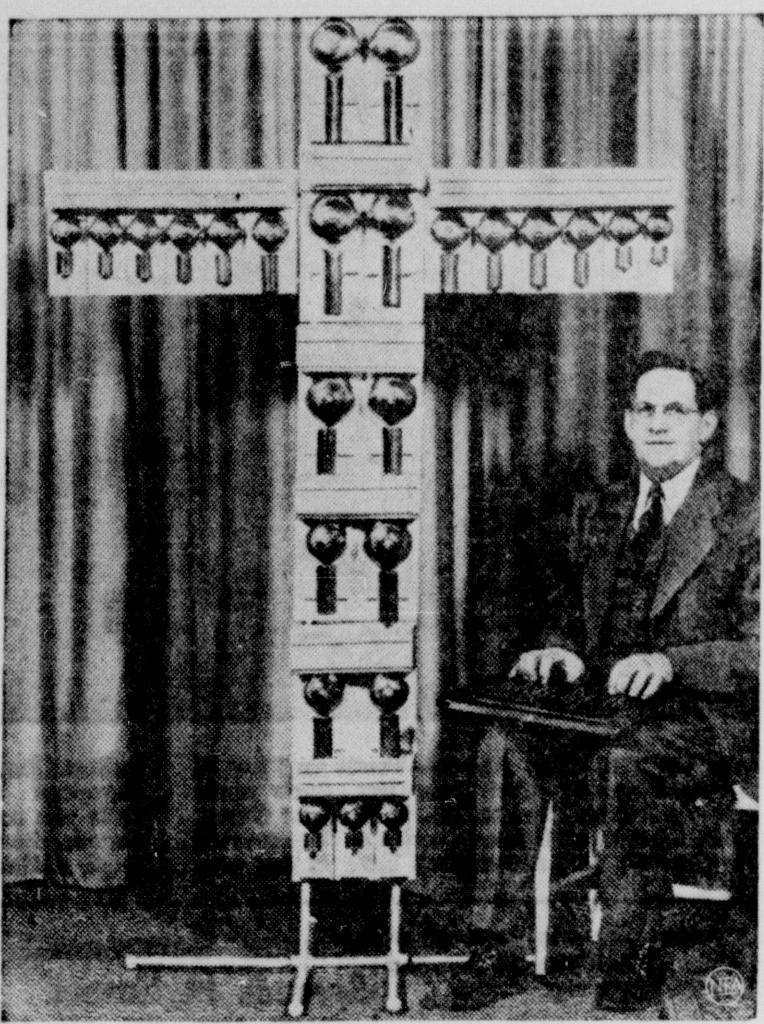

Fred Hahne, toastmaster, noted that Manistique businessmen were to be commended for their part in securing 100 per cent attendance of Company D, 107th Engineer Battalion, at field training last summer in Camp Grayling.

The Manistique unit was the only one in Upper Michigan with a 100 per cent record, he pointed out, adding that it is hoped Manistique employers may be able to arrange two weeks military leave for Guardsmen, without the time away counting against vacation time.

Also speaking were Col. Leonard C. Ward, of Ishpeming, battalion commander, and Capt. E. J. Doyle, commander of the company here. Colonel Ward outlined activities of the Guard organization and showed colored slides taken at Camp Grayling. Capt. Doyle gave the address of welcome.

During the program the movie, "Builders of Peace" was shown, and the company was presented its certificate for an excellent training record for its overall training program in 1954.

The National Guard company here has been notified that an alert test will be conducted this spring to determine the length of time needed for nationwide mobilization of Guard strength.

Statue Of Washington Falls, Misses Pupils At Alton, Ill., School

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — A life-sized marble statue fell about three stories onto the main entrance steps of an Alton School Tuesday which moments before were crowded with children.

Mother Paul, principal at St. Patrick's Catholic school, said the 400 children had promptly answered a bell ending recess.

"Thank God they answered the first sound of the bell . . . she said on viewing the debris.

The last student had entered the door when the statue of George Washington broke off at the ankles from a niche near the roof of the three-story building.

The statue shattered the impact damaged a concrete retaining wall and shook the school. Students at the school bought the statue with pennies 50 years ago. It had been inspected and pronounced safely anchored a year ago.

Icebreaker Opens St. Marys River

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The Coast Guard icebreaker Mackinac worked its way up the St. Marys River today clearing ice for the 1955 navigation season through the Soo Locks.

The huge cutter is scheduled to finish work Thursday and dock at the Soo where a centennial celebration marking the opening of navigation will be held. Meanwhile, the Coast Guard cutter Mesquite is expected to leave the Soo Friday to help the Mackinac in ice breaking operations in the Lower St. Marys River.

Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels stood out strongly today in a generally higher stock market.

In the early afternoon, prices spread over a range of around two points either way. Plus signs dominated the list.

Trading pace was a little better than Tuesday's 2,100,000 shares. Steel shares got full benefit of industry predictions of higher earnings for this year based on substantial production. Bethlehem, up 5/4 Tuesday was up between one and two today.

Kaiser Aluminum was up around two points on top of the rise of 5/4 Tuesday. Over night the company announced plans for a three-for-one split and a higher dividend.

Other higher stocks included Union Pacific, Southern Pacific United Air Lines, American Telephone, Western Union, Union Carbide, American Tobacco, Climax Molybdenum, Pepsi-Cola, Radio Corp., Sperry, Chrysler, Jones & Laughlin, and Inland Steel.

Prospects Dim For Compromise On Highway Bill

LANSING (AP) — The possibility of a compromise between Gov. Williams and House Republicans on the highway program appeared slimmer today following an hour-long conference on the issue.

Williams came face to face with Rep. Emil Peltz (R-Rogers City), his chief legislative opponent in the highway fracas. Also at the meeting were other members of the House Roads and Bridges Committee.

Upshot of the conference was that Williams will stick to his guns in insisting that the major portion of a proposed one and one half cent gasoline tax increase should be used to build an arterial highway.

Peltz said he will not budge from his demands that the present distribution formula for highway funds be left intact until there is some evidence that it should be changed.

The present distribution formula gives 44 per cent of highway funds to the state, 37 per cent to the counties and 19 per cent to the cities.

Under the Senate-approved bill backed by Williams, the state would get 75 per cent and cities and counties 25 per cent.

Lake Levels To Drop This Year

The level of Lake Michigan this year should be nearly a foot lower than had been forecast last winter, according to U. S. Army Engineers. The engineers announced that none of the Great Lakes is likely to get as high as had been forecast.

The engineer corps lake survey warned in December that heavy October rains had sent all the lakes on a climb that could see them cresting around July at close to the 1952 heights that caused millions of dollars of shore damage. But precipitation over the basins since then has been subnormal, causing the engineers to revise their predictions.

Lt. Col. Edward J. Gallagher, Detroit, district engineer of the survey, now estimates that Lake Michigan's probable maximum stage will be 581.8 feet above sea level. Lake Michigan and its twin, Lake Huron, then would be 11 1/2 inches below the 1952 July peak and four inches under the 1953 top.

Lake Michigan nevertheless would still be one and a half inches above 1954's high mark and 30 inches above datum, an arbitrary figure from which lake stages are measured. These water levels, therefore, remain a potential danger, calling for continued protective measures against coastal batterings from storms.

The trustees of both trusts are Arthur Schmon, president of the Ontario Paper Co. Ltd. and other Canadian subsidiaries of the Tribune Co.; the three executors and Stewart D. Owen, assistant managing editor of the Tribune.

Largest of the individual bequests was to the widow, Maryland McCormick. She received one million dollars in trust, to be disbursed at the rate of $100,000 a year. If she lives beyond the 10 years another trust fund will pay her $100,000 a year for life.

ALLIGATOR GAR
THE UGLIEST, MOST VICIOUS AND BIGGEST FRESH-WATER FISH IN THE UNITED STATES — A REMNANT OF PRE-HISTORIC TIMES

THE IVORY-LIKE SCALES OF AN ADULT GAR ARE OVER AN INCH LONG AND AN EIGHTH OF AN INCH THICK AT THE CENTER. INDIANS ONCE USED THEM FOR ARROWHEADS.

MANY GARS EXCEED EIGHT FEET IN LENGTH, YET

AT BIRTH THEY ARE NO LARGER THAN AN ORDINARY PIN

SO TOUGH IS THEIR COAT OF ARMOR, THAT BULLETS ARE NECESSARY TO KILL ADULT GARS

IT TAKES HEAVY-DUTY DEEP-SEA EQUIPMENT TO CATCH THIS MONSTER — A 50 OR 60-FOOT COIL A STAR-DRAW REEL WITH AT LEAST 250 YARDS OF 54-22000 TEST LINE AND THREE FEET OF WIRE LEADER. SINKER SHOULD BE 1/4 POUND.

FRESH DRUM IS GOOD GAR BAIT AND YOU'LL NEED A CHALK ABOUT 1/2 POUND IN WEIGHT ON A 90 TREBLE HOOK

New Hudson Hornet Hollywood hardtop — available with new V-8 engine, or the famed Championship V-6 engine.

You see more...ride 3 times better...are twice as safe in the new Hudson Hornets, Wasps, Ramblers

Hudson's new low hood and high space-guide fenders improve forward vision, let you drive more relaxed. The Hornet V-8, Hornet Championship Six, and Wasp have the largest wrap-around windshields in the business. There's a new Deep Coil Ride featuring springs with three times usual cushioning power, with slanted mounting to give you new anti-sway safety. All Hudsons handle so easily that driving is fun again. And you enjoy new Double Strength Single Unit car construction — twice as rigid, twice as strong, twice as safe. Hudson stays new longer, is a better trade-in value.

Sir Anthony Eden Takes Over Post Of Prime Minister

in a country whose established Anglican Church frowns on the remarriage of divorced persons.

Eden has remained on good terms with his former wife, who now lives in New York City, and she told reporters there on learning of his appointment:

"I am delighted at the culmination of this well deserved honor for Sir Anthony, and I wish him every success and happiness."

News By Grapevine

The changeover in leadership brought only a mild reaction among rank-and-file Londoners, who got the news largely through a grapevine system stemming originally from BBC newscasts. No vast emotional impact had been expected. The feeling appeared to be general that, while Churchill's retirement was a sentiment-provoking event, the old man has had his day and has earned a rest.

A Pan American Airways official said 9,000 copies of New York newspapers were being flown into London to help spread the news. They are to be given away.

Churchill remained in seclusion in 10 Downing St., in the apartments from where he fashioned Britain's victories in World War II as he prepared to move out for the last time.

His personal physician, Lord Moran, called on him this morning and stayed 50 minutes. It was reliably described as a routine visit. There had been some anxiety, however, that the emotional strain of his last day in office would tell on Churchill.

An associate said Churchill was "extremely fit," but had decided months ago to retire because he "has sort of a dread at the idea of having to be carried out of No. 10 Downing St."

HAVE A SEAT, EVERYBODY—Looking like creatures from Lilliput, fictitious land of the pygmies, 12 children sit comfortably in the world's largest upholstered leather chair. Valued at $4895, the 12 1/2-foot-high chair is three and a half times the size of the smaller, conventional type at its feet. On display in Long Island, N. Y., to demonstrate the use of foam rubber cushioning with leather upholstery, it is eight feet wide, required 800 man-hours to build and contains 400 pounds of foam rubber.

Drug Firm Reports Gratifying Tests With Polio Vaccine

DETROIT (AP)—Harry J. Loynd, Parke Davis & Co., president, told an annual stockholders meeting Tuesday that his company's tests with Salk polio vaccine are "highly gratifying."

"I won't say our results were amazing, but they were highly gratifying," he said in a report on a private study his firm took on Salk reaction with a group of Illinois school children.

The firm's survey is not connected with a test on two million children conducted by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Results of the Foundation's test will be announced April 12 at Ann Arbor.

Proud Detroit Boy Kills Himself With Loaded Gift Revolver

DETROIT (AP)—The Cub Scout uniform was new, and it was a proud day for 10-year-old Frank Stemmler. Friends were invited in for cake and ice cream.

That was Tuesday. Now Frank is dead.

After his friends left, Frank went upstairs and got down a .38 caliber revolver which had been kept on a shelf in his parents' closet. He was understandably curious, because a neighbor gave it to the parents a year ago for the understanding it would be his when he grew up.

Frank's mother, Theresa, 34, still was cleaning up the aftermath of the party downstairs when she heard a shot. She ran upstairs and found Frank sprawled across a bed.

"Mommy, I shot myself," he gasped. That's all he said.

"Mommy, A bullet passed through his chest and out his back. Frank died almost immediately.

Bathrooms And Kitchens First In Spring Painting

Kitchens And Bathroom. when they are not entirely finished in some such permanent material as tile, need redecorating more often than any other rooms in a house. Grease and smoke in a kitchen, constant moisture in a bathroom give paint and wallpaper a rough time.

Of course, you can dodge this frequent redecorating problem by using some of the wonderful finishing products now on the market. You can get vinyl and plastic wall coverings, similar or identical to those used for counter surfaces. You can use colored glass panels to cover the walls and cleanable and paintable acoustical tiles for the ceilings. But most people continue to paint and let it go at that.

There's a big difference in painting a kitchen or bathroom and painting other rooms in a house. More preparation is called for. Different paint is advisable. A semi-gloss oil base paint or enamel is preferred in a kitchen or bathroom, while a flat finish is used in other rooms. The reason is that harder finishes wash off more easily when grease and dirt collect on kitchen walls. Also gloss finishes are more resistant to moisture produced by baths and showers.

Ceilings of both of these rooms are painted in the same finishes as the walls, although color and shade may vary.

In a kitchen it is highly important to remove all grease film before repainting. Paint will not stick to a grease film. If it ever does dry, it is likely to peel off. The best cleaner for kitchen walls and ceiling is a solution of trisodium phosphate, a detergent which can be purchased under various names for a few cents in any paint or hardware store.

All woodwork in kitchen or bathroom—window and door frames and baseboards—call for semi-gloss or gloss finish. This makes it easier to wipe off finger-marks and other smudges. And you have to prepare woodwork carefully, wiping off all dirt and grease and filling all cracks, crevices and nailhead indentations with spackling compound or plastic wood.

"No enamel will make a rough surface smooth," warns a paint expert. So sand these surfaces lightly with a fine grade of abrasive paper. Then clean the sanded surface thoroughly with a cloth moistened in turpentine, mineral spirits or odorless thinner.

A single coat of enamel is usually enough when redecorating woodwork unless the color change is too great. Two-coat work calls for whatever primer is recommended by the paint manufacturer.

In using enamel, try to keep the room closed and as free from dust as possible during the drying period. This is especially important for a high finish on kitchen cabinets.

You can avoid a lot of kitchen and bathroom redecorating by the proper use of ventilating fans. A ventilating fan in a kitchen window, or above the window, may go far toward keeping grease-laden fumes from circulating into the other rooms, but it won't help much in keeping your kitchen walls clean. A metal hood directly over the stove, with an adequately powerful exhaust blower, is the most efficient.

Such over-stove fans feed into a concealed stove-pipe vent to the outdoors and this pipe should be tight at all joints.

In a bathroom, any exhaust fan blowing to the out-of-doors, is a big help in ridding the room of moisture and odors.

Another smart grease guard for kitchen is the use of filter covers for all frying pans. These gadgets, commonly called "filter-frys," have been developed by manufacturers of cleanable metal mesh filters and prevent grease from splattering without tightly covering a pan.

May Draft Calls 600 In Michigan

LANSING (AP)—Michigan draft boards will be asked to induct 600 men for the armed forces during May, state selective headquarters said.

Col. Arthur A. Holmes, state selective service director, said all draftees ordered for induction in May will be at least 20 years of age or older, except for volunteers.

Col. Holmes said it is expected that most of the call will be filled by volunteers since local boards are reporting a continued large volume of applicants who want to start their two years of service at this time.

Boards are authorized to accept volunteers 17 years of age or older.

The May call is 280 less than the May, 1954 call of 880.

It represents an increase of 100 over the April call of 500 draftees.

The call by counties includes: Alger, 2; Baraga, 3; Chippewa, 5; Delta, 3; Dickinson, 2; Gogebie, 4; Houghton, 8; Iron, 2; Lapeer, 2; Marquette, 7; Menominee, 2; Ontonagon, 3; Marquette, 7; Menominee, 2.

Brain X-Rays Ease Up Cancer

CHICAGO (AP)—X-rays blasting the brain's switchboard of human emotions seem to be slowing some lethal cancers and easing cancer pain, a neurosurgeon said today.

This switchboard is the hypothalamus, the size of a prune, located right under the brain.

Your emotions—fear, anger, love, hate—flood into it from your senses. Out of it come chemical or nerve reactions to make you run, punch, blush, swear, or take other actions.

The hypothalamus sits atop the pituitary gland, often called the body's master gland. The pituitary sends out hormones to control your sex glands, adrenals, thyroid and other glands.

But recent research indicates the hypothalamus is really the top man, that it even make make hormones which are stored in the pituitary for use later, said Dr.

Arthur Arnold of the University of Illinois College of Medicine.

Dr. Arnold and associates are hitting at the hypothalamus to the benefit of some cancer patients. They are using X-rays to short-circuit some of the activity of this emotional switchboard.

Some cancers—like breast cancer in women and prostate gland cancer in men—feed upon sex and other hormones. A remedy is to remove the sex glands or other glands which stimulate these cancers or to remove the pituitary to prevent those other glands from making damaging hormones.

X-rays or other radiation is one way to knock out the pituitary without surgery.

But Dr. Arnold finds the pituitary is very resistant to X-rays. The hypothalamus will bring short-circuits to stop production of hormones which make cancers grow.

An electric counter can accurately measure 37 billion atomic disintegrations a second.

Charm Tip of the Day

Hair Styling
The most important rule in hair styling is never to conform to the shape of your face, except the oval. Repetition of the same shape in your hair style will only exaggerate the shape of your face. The long face should use a low or no part at all with fullness at the sides; the short face should use an off-center part with a high and low point and smooth at the sides.

Pittsburgh Has Its Own Passion Play

PITTSBURGH—A play written 42 years ago by a priest who wanted to impress his congregation with the spiritual and religious fervor of Easter is enjoying its 36th season in Pittsburgh this year.

About 120 persons from all walks of life lay aside their everyday routine on weekends before Easter to take part in the Passion Play. More than 100,000 are expected to see it.

A blue-eyed girl who soon will marry a high school sweetheart and an unemployed father will play the parts of Mary and Jesus. They and most of the cast have been rehearsing since Christmas.

Many in the cast have become veteran actors. Joseph Moeller, 61, for instance, has appeared as a Roman soldier in every production since it was written by the Rev. Bernardine Dusch, a Passionist priest.

Production was halted during World Wars I and II.

Others lent the time and energy of youth, then handed the job to their children. A few have stayed with their children—and grandchildren.

James R. Gildea, 25, and Miss Audrey C. Fritz, 21, have the roles of Jesus and Mary.

Miss Fritz is making her eighth appearance as Mary and her ninth in the passion play. This will be her last season, though. The part of Mary is traditionally played by an unmarried girl.

Gildea, a six foot truck driver, has one son. He has been out of work since November, 1953, because of a labor dispute.

Personal interests are put aside during the play and the many nights of rehearsal. Many consider their parts in the production a form of prayer, and they sacrifice much to appear.

Father Dusch and his director-successor, the Rev. Wendelin Meis, have said many times that a "good holy life" is one of the chief qualifications for any role in the play.

Father Dusch dramatized a story about a holy woman named Veronica. She wiped the face of Christ as He carried the Cross and a life-like impression of His face remained on the veil she used.

The play "Veronica's Veil" is the spiritual presentation of Christ's passion.

The priest expected the play to run for the lent season of 1913 and be forgotten. But it has been renewed each year. Some churches even staged their own productions. Several years ago, a new St. Michael's assembly hall was erected—mainly to accommodate the growing crowds.

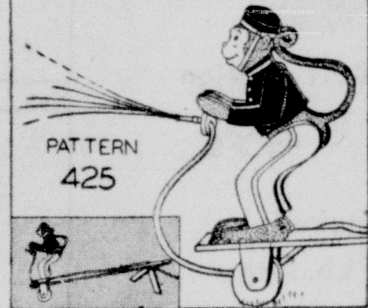

Father Meis estimates the play has netted several thousand dollars a year for the past 10 years. The money is used to meet parish expenses but Father Meis says:

"That isn't the purpose of the Passion play. Father Dusch wrote it and people sacrifice their time and energy with the hope of making a small part of the world a bit more conscious of Christian principles."

Workshop Patterns

MONKEY HOSE HOLDER

This Jocko cannot be trained to toss down coconuts but he can do a fair job watering the lawn. He is 22 inches high and rides around on a single wheel to wherever he is needed. Meanwhile the water may be left running as the long handle and hose clamp prevent any monkey business such as sprinkling the boss. You begin this project by tracing the saw lines and color areas directly from the pattern to the wood. Then saw out the parts and paint them in red, blue and black. Everything is complete on pattern 425 which may be ordered from the address below for 25c. This number is included in the Gardener's Helpers Packet of patterns for $1. postpaid.

NEW ROUTE SPEEDS ALASKAN BUSINESS — A new overland transportation system directly linking the East and Middle West with interior Alaska is getting under way. The new arrangement completely bypasses Seattle, Wash., traditional "gateway to Alaska," and links the largest U. S. production centers directly with Alaska consumers. Freight will flow north and west over Canadian railways to Dawson Creek, British Columbia, and there will be transferred to large trucks which will follow the Alaskan Highway 1500 miles to Fairbanks, Anchorage and other Alaskan points. Canadian-Alaskan Freight Express, Inc., developer of the new route, says it will cut the travel time from Chicago to Anchorage or Fairbanks from six weeks to three weeks. Upper map indicates new route, and bottom map shows how major cities in northern U. S. will be linked with it.

No other low-priced car even comes close to matching these important Chevrolet advantages . . .

If you're planning to buy a new car, the one you just can't afford to miss seeing is Chevrolet—for 19 straight years America's best-selling car. The Motorama Chevrolet offers you so much more than the other low-priced cars that it's hardly fair to compare them. And even the high-priced cars don't have all the advantages that today's Chevrolet offers you.

The beauty's built in—not bolted on! Chevrolet's beauty is inherent in the basic contours of metal and glass. There's no excessive bolted-on ornamentation to go out of style overnight.

The Body's by Fisher! You see Body by Fisher on lots of the high-priced cars—and only Chevrolet has it in the low-price field!

Today's most modern engines! That goes for Chevrolet's new V8 and two new sixes as well. All bring you a modern 12-volt electrical system—double the voltage of other low-priced cars. Then Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8" has the shortest piston stroke in the industry!

A drive to suit your driving! There's silky, peppery Powerglide (even better this year!), new Overdrive (both extra-cost options), and a new Synchro-Mesh transmission that's as smooth as they come.

All the power helpers you want! Windows, seat, steering, brakes—all are available with built-in "muscles" to make driving as effortless as you wish. They're optional at extra-cost—and worth it!

Come take the key! There have never been so many good reasons why you should drive a Chevrolet!

Over Ten Million Chevrolet owners—Two Million more than any other car!

Easter Egg Tree Traditional With Pennsylvania Dutch

A gaily colored Easter egg tree is a centuries-old custom of the Pennsylvania Dutch. It's a small tree or branch, set in a pot, and hung with dyed eggs. Hard-cooking the eggs, then dyeing them, means you can eat the eggs later.

Trim slenderest outer branches so that the remaining part will hold up the Easter eggs. Use a sizeable flowerpot filled with tightly packed earth, or even rocks or pebbles that will hold the little tree erect.

Hard-cook 2 to 4 dozen eggs. Let them cool and then dye in varied colors with Easter egg dye or food colors. To hang the eggs, use transparent adhesive tape. The tape will hold best if it is looped most of the way around the egg. Be sure that the eggs are hung on all sides of the tree so the weight will be distributed equally.

Refrigerate the hard-cooked eggs when you take the tree down and use them in sandwiches, salads, casserole dishes.

Egg Asparagus Surprise
Use well-browned toast, one slice for each serving. On each piece arrange 3 or 4 spears of cooked, well-drained fresh asparagus or canned asparagus. Arrange slices from 1 hard-cooked egg over asparagus. Then spoon on generously a sharp cheese sauce and sprinkle with paprika. Serve directly from platter. If you wish, run under broiler a minute before serving.

Sunday supper: golden brown pork sausage links with apple rings crisp waffles and maple syrup.

Your Baby

The last returns are in. If Baby was born last year, he or she was one of 4,076,000 born in the United States during the year. This estimate, from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, includes unregistered births. This is the biggest baby year ever. Congratulations—4,076,000 of 'em.

Buy More Than One At A Time

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor
Women with good sense wouldn't think of going out and buying just a pair of stockings. It's not practical.

This idea can be carried a step further for mature women. When you find an undergarment you really like and that suits you perfectly, buy two.

Almost everyone has had frustrating experiences in buying underclothes. The most frequent occurrence of this sort is to buy a girdle or all-in-one that is comfortable, durable and makes your figure look just as you want it. You wear it and wear it and then come back six months later to the same department of the same store for another.

May Be Discontinued
Nine times out of ten, the line has been discontinued by the manufacturer, the store is out of your size or has stopped stocking the line.

For mature women, this is crushing. While young things can squeeze themselves into a make-do, mature women get rightfully attached to what's comfortable and becoming.

And further, many mature women wear their foundations constantly and clothes are bought to fit the figure in the foundation. It may mean disaster to a wardrobe to be unable to replace a favorite girdle.

Buy a Half Dozen
So, for the sake of peace of mind, don't rely on the promise that the item will be stocked forever and ever. Get two right on the spot. Or more, if you can manage it.

If it's bras, be prepared to get a half dozen at a time. The mismatched bra wardrobe leaves the beholder feeling the wearer sheds and dons pounds at will. Panties and slips can be half a dozen at a time, too, but they need be matched only if you wear a very special hard-to-get sort.

EAT WELL
Americans are getting more of the protective foods today, spending eight per cent less than they did in the '20s for foods with less nutritive value.

Meditations for LENT

By DR. J. CARTER SWAIM
Dept. of English Bible,
National Council of Churches
Written for NEA Service

It was when Greeks came seeking Him that Jesus said: "unless a grain of wheat falls into the earth and dies, it remains alone; but if it dies, it bears much fruit" (John 12:24, RSV). Is this Jesus' judgment upon the Greek way of life? We must not underestimate the contributions which the Greeks have made to our civilization. Clement of Alexandria held that God gave to the Greeks philosophy "as a schoolmaster to bring the Hellenic mind to Christ." Sometimes we are indebted to them when we are wholly unaware of it.

We think of our age as being very different from theirs, yet such words as theater, auto, planet, democracy and atom are lifted bodily from their language. Both science and philosophy are derived from them. The Hebrews were never interested in the investigation of nature or in schemes of abstract thought. The Greeks had an elaborate structure of idealism, revolving around the beautiful, the true, the good. Our obligation to them is apparent in every one of these areas.

Yet the Greek ideal for man is not the Christian ideal. "Know thyself" was the Greek ideal. A man should know himself, cultivate himself, realize himself. But the Hebrews were sure that man by himself cut a pretty sorry figure. What he needed was to know, not himself, but God. The dying seed is promise of new life, and Jesus bids us, not cultivate or glorify ourselves, but lose ourselves, forget ourselves, give ourselves.

The Ford River Child Study Club meeting, which was scheduled for Thursday, April 7, will be cancelled due to Holy Week. The next meeting will be held May 5.

Apparently lost in the shuffle as the whole Upper Peninsula saluted Houghton and Mass as state basketball champions and Negaunee for its fine showing below the Straits, is a new Upper Peninsula scoring record posted by the Mass Rockets. The previous high season and tournament total, also set by Mass, was 1,627 points scored in 23 games during the 1951-52 campaign. This season Mass hit for 1,849 points in 25 games.

Mass, of course, also figured in that record-breaking single game total of 189 points in a game with Trout Creek on Feb. 2. Trout Creek won the game 95-94. The same two teams held the previous record of 172 points, set on Feb. 8, 1952, when Mass defeated Trout Creek 100-72.

Walter VanDeWeghe of Gladstone holds third place in the singles division of the Upper Peninsula Bowling tournament with a 610 series. Frank Gerrish of Sault Ste. Marie leads with 620. Other local kegglers high in the U. P. standings are Hughes Motors of Gladstone, seventh in regular team event with 2,559; Young's Haberdashery of Escanaba, second in the minor team division with 2,502; and Olson's Men's Wear of Gladstone fifth with 2,447.

Mel Givens, the Milwaukee open division 118-pound Golden Gloves champion who was an alternate on the Chicago Tournament of Champions team that battled to a 4-4 tie with the New York champs recently, once fought in the Upper Peninsula. Givens lost a decision to former Manistiquie youth Jimmy Gould on an amateur card in Manistiquie in 1953. And a young lightweight prospect, Mickey Zielke of LaCrosse, who has made quite a name for himself in his brief pro career, tasted defeat in his final fight as an amateur at the hands of Manistiquie's classy Harvard Lancelot in the 1953 open division featherweight title bout in Milwaukee.

Braves Blast Spooner And Dodgers, 8 To 0; Mound Star Has Pain

By ED WILKS

(By The Associated Press)

It begins to look as if the Brooklyn Dodgers may not have Karl Spooner any sooner this season than last.

The 23-year-old Lefty was the kid who broke up the wake held by the Brooklyn faithful at the tail end of the 1954 campaign after the New York Giants had laid the Braves to rest.

Spooner came up from Fort Worth and in two starts he set the Giants on their ears 3-0 and bumped off Pittsburgh the club that slugged the Dodgers in the home stretch 1-0. His 15 strikeouts against the National League champs was a league record for a first appearance. And the 12 strikeouts he added against the Bucs, gave him an NL mark for two consecutive games.

Knee Was Fixed

Over the winter, Spooner had a balky right knee set right and he showed up for spring training ready to fire. Trouble was, he fired too hard too soon.

He threw well against the White Sox despite a sore shoulder. Against Milwaukee April 1, he was hit hard, but felt no pain.

Tuesday he tried another three frames against the Braves and the arm "hurt like a sonof-a-bitch."

The Braves tagged him for two unearned runs in the second and a pair of legitimate scores in the third on a walk and three hits after two were out. Spooner left for the showers and the Braves were off to an 8-0 victory that gave them the spring series against the Brooks 5-4.

Maglie Goes Route

Sal Maglie set down the Cleveland Indians 5-2 for the New York Giants on nine scattered hits over nine innings. Bob Lemon went all the way for the Tribe, also allowing nine hits—but two were Monte Irvin home runs and a third was a homer by rookie Bob Lemon.

The Philadelphia Phils took a pair 17-12 and 8-2 from Boston. The two clubs swung for 20 extra-base hits. Nine of them were home runs. Jim Piersall got two homers, a triple and a double, good for seven Boston runs in the opener.

St. Louis also swept a twinbill, beating the Chicago White Sox 6-3 and 3-1. The Cardinals scored four runs in the eighth, two on a Red Schoendienst home run, to win the opener. Tom Poholsky held the Sox to three hits, one a homer by Walt Dropo, in the five-inning nightcap.

Cincinnati ended a five-game losing streak by clouting Washington 13-2. Jim Gremminger hit a grand-slam wallopp in a six-run first off Dean Stone.

Braves Have Everything, Including Broken Ankles

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—(NEA)—The Braves have the big ball-player in Eddie Mathews.

They have the big pitcher in Warren Spahn, and the biggest attendance in baseball.

They also have big problems in the repaired ankles of Bobby Thomson and Henry Aaron. Thomson and Aaron tell you the right ankles that were broken, last season are quite all right, then limp out to their positions practically on one leg.

So the Milwaukee club is deep everywhere, including bum ankles. Still, it is so well balanced that the third time could be the charm. With all its bad luck last trip, Sudsville missed by no more than eight games, and the Tribe would not be the first club rooted to a pennant.

There are a lot of runs in the middle of the Braves' batting order, where swing the great Mathews, Thomson, Joe Adcock and 21-year-old Hank Aaron, the most under-publicized young player of the game. They swing behind the speedster, Bill Bruton and Danny O'Connell, an expert at hitting behind the runner. And the tail-end of the order is hardly composed of All-America cuts with Johnny Logan, one of the superior shortstops, and Del Crandall, who swats for distance.

You get a fair idea of this club's bench when Andy Parko is crowded out of the outfield, where Jim Pendleton and Chuck Tanner, who batted .323 for Atlanta, are other reservists.

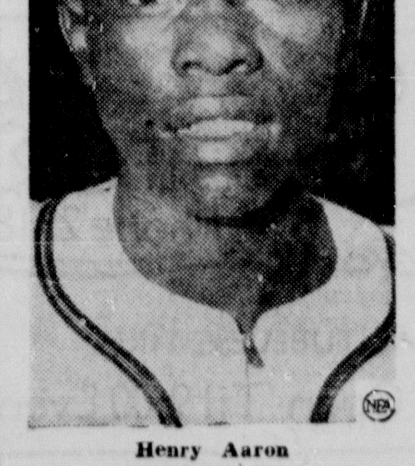

Jack Dittmer, who second-based when the Braves were beaten only by the rampaging Dodgers in 1953, now is nothing more than a replacement for O'Connell. Where O'Connell's sprained small of the back forced the Paterson, Irishman to sleep on a board, Charley Grimm worked Aaron at second base, where the quiet lad of Mobile was stationed while leading the Sally League in everything but hotel accommodations.

Roy Smalley further backs up the infielders and George Crowe, a large first baseman who manufactured 34 home runs for Toledo, is being retained as the Braves' edition of Rusty Rhodes.

Look for Mathews, the expectant father, to have a tremendous year and for Adcock to keep right on going. Aaron should go up on two good ankles. Del Crandall is 25 pounds lighter than he did when he first came up.

Towering Gene Conley is expected to join Spahn as a 20-game winner. The third, fourth and fifth pitchers are Lew Burdette, Bob Buhl and Chet Nichols, the latter pair bent on comebacks which should be successful.

Announce Plans For U. P. Prep Baseball Tournament

Plans to inaugurate an Upper Peninsula high school championship baseball tournament were announced today by Holy Name High School officials in Escanaba.

The first annual U. P. prep tournament will be conducted at the Escanaba city baseball diamond on May 27, 28, 29 and 30 if the latter day is needed, Brother Joel, Holy Name athletic director, revealed.

The tournament has the hearty approval of Charles E. Forsythe, state high school director of athletics, and will be conducted under the rules of the Michigan High School Athletic Association. All state prep rules regarding eligibility and other matters will be observed and officials will be registered with the state.

Open To All Schools

The need for such a tournament has long been realized in U. P. school circles and Holy Name officials conducted an unofficial survey among coaches and athletic directors before mapping preliminary plans.

"The tournament will be open to all schools in the Upper Peninsula that sponsor high school baseball teams. Any school interested may contact me at Holy Name for tournament details and we hope to get an immediate response from throughout the Peninsula," Brother Joel stated.

Any schools interested should make entry application immediately with the Holy Name athletic director, Brother Joel set May 1 as deadline for entering the tournament.

Trophy To Winner

An Upper Peninsula championship trophy will be awarded to the team winning the tournament. The tournament will be conducted on a single elimination basis. All teams participating must pay their own expenses this year, Brother Joel stated.

Chicago Team Blows In ABC

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—One Chicago team moved into a tie for first place and a second Windy City quintet blew an opportunity to take over the lead in Tuesday night's competition in the American Bowling Congress tournament.

The Cole Finder-Mercury team posted a 3,015 total to tie Howard's Clothes of St. Paul, which had held the lead since the tournament opened March 26. The Chicago team, paced by 18-year-old Morrie Oppenheim, had games of 1,055, 982 and 978. Oppenheim shot a 553 series.

The King Louie Bowling Shirts of Chicago appeared on the way to the top spot with 2,631 for the first two games. But Capt. Paul Krumske, one of the country's top bowlers, drew a 4-7-9 split in the last frame of the third game. Young Joe Simonis, also in the final frame left the 9-10 pins standing and missed his spare.

The King Louies finished with 2,986, which gave them fourth place. Harry Lippe led the team with a 647 series.

These were the only team changes of the day but Fred Lins, a Milwaukee southpaw, rolled in to ninth place in the all events as he added games of 562 and 568 to his previous 716 in the team rolling for a total of 1,846.

Little Mike's Kegglers Win In Women's Tourney

Little Mike's kegglers swept top honors in the first annual Arcade Ladies bowling tournament recently completed.

Joyce Callari took the high individual series trophy with a 592 total and the high individual game trophy with a 222 count in the handicap tournament.

Little Mike's won team honors with a 2529, followed in order by Northland Stores, Don's Market, Bark River, Skinny's Bar, Ted's Bar, A&G Electric Co. and Goebel Beer.

Split artists in the tourney were Irene Myers who picked up the 3-6-6, 5-6 and 5-7, and Joyce Callari (4-5-10), Bea Morin (4-5-7) and Betty Olson (5-8-10).

Twenty-two teams competed in the tournament which had a prize list of $100 and three trophies.

but there has never been a tournament to determine the U. P. champion. In other prep sports such as basketball, track, golf and tennis tournaments are conducted to determine the team champions.

Among the area schools that offer baseball programs to students are Holy Name, Escanaba, Gladstone, Bark River, Powers and Stephenson. Most of those schools have indicated an interest in the tournament.

Among other Upper Peninsula schools that sponsor baseball teams are Negaunee, Ishpeming, Marquette, Marquette Baraga, Sault Ste. Marie, Soo Loretto, Iron Mountain, Ironwood, Wakefield and Bessemer.

Escanaba Top Team

If the tournament meets with the approval of enough schools and an early entry list is obtained, a pre-tourney meeting of coaches and athletic directors of competing schools will be held it was announced.

Among schools competing in baseball, Escanaba High School is generally regarded as the top team in recent years. The Eskymos have a 35-game undefeated string which extends back to the 1950 season.

Globe Trotters Win 80-71 Over All-Stars

ELKHART, Ind. (AP)—The Harlem Globe Trotters had a 9-4 edge over the College All-Stars today as they took their cross-country basketball series to Iowa City, Iowa, after playing to a sellout crowd here Tuesday night.

The Trotters beat the Stars, 80-71 before 8,371 in the Elkhart Stadium.

Masters Record Sought By Snead

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Samuel Jackson Snead, defending champion of the Masters golf tournament, could break two precedents by winning this one. No one has ever won four.

Only Snead and Jimmy Demaret have won three — and no Masters champion has ever successfully defended his title.

"But there's always a chance," Sam drawled after shooting a five-under-par 67 in practice Tuesday.

Snead won his third Masters title last year when he beat Ben Hogan by one stroke in an 18-hole playoff. His other victories came in 1952 and 1949.

Hogan won in 1953 and 1951 and has been runnerup three times. He had a 70 in practice Tuesday.

Today's dedication of a bridge leading to the 15th green was the major preliminary attraction prior to the tournament's first round play Thursday. The bridge honors Gene Sarazen who made his famed double-eagle on the 15th hole during the 1935 tournament.

Wings Rock Montreal 7-1; Threaten To Run Away With Playoffs

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings, riding the hottest streak in hockey history, today were rated overwhelming favorites to retain the Stanley Cup—and it looks as though they intend to do it in eight straight games.

Led by Capt. Ted Lindsay's four goals, the Wings continued their amazing surge Tuesday night by trouncing the Montreal Canadiens 7-1 to take a commanding 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven final series.

It was the Wings' 15th straight victory, breaking the mark of 14 in a row set by the Boston Bruins in the 1929-30 season.

Eye 1952 Feat

The Wings won their last nine games of the regular season and their first six playoff games. Now they are seeking to duplicate their 1952 feat of winning the Stanley Cup in the minimum of eight games.

The Detroiters made quick work of the Canadiens Tuesday night, running up a 4-0 lead in the first period and expanding it to 7-0 by the end of the second.

Montreal's lone tally came with less than eight minutes to go. Kenny Mosdell spoiled Goalie Terry Sawchuk's shutout at 12:32 of the final period, shooting the puck into the net with a casual, what's-the-use motion.

Sawchuk, who suffered an eye cut which required five stitches, in the first period, had stopped 23 shots before Mosdell nicked him.

Moore Goes Wild

The second period was all Lindsay. He scored on a close-up backhander and an eight-footer. Then goalie Jacques Plante made another bad play to give Lindsay a gift goal. Lindsay broke in on the Montreal goalie, who followed the play instead of the puck. As a result, the disc rolled into the net as Plante eyed Lindsay.

Montreal's Dick Moore went wild in the third period and drew three successive penalties—a minor misconduct and game misconduct.

It all started when he was given a two-minute penalty for slashing Lindsay. Moore went after Lindsay, chasing him to the Red Wings' bench. He bowled over a linesman and Referee Red Stoney quickly added a 10-minute misconduct penalty.

18 Without Defeat

It was all very hectic. But the crowd of 13,942 seemed to enjoy every minute of it.

For the record, the game marked Detroit's 18th in a row without a loss. They were last defeated Feb. 17. They also have gone through 22 games in a row at home without losing—a streak stretching back to Dec. 19.

The third and fourth games of the series will be played in the Montreal Forum Thursday and Saturday. Many feel a fifth game won't be necessary.

Wrangle Between Robinson And Alston Hurts Brooklyn Chances

NEW YORK (AP)—After watching the Brooklyn Dodgers play two exhibition games down South, there was an almost overpowering urge to pick them to win the National League flag going away. We were strongly tempted off by a friend who had been close to them all spring.

"Don't pick this outfit," he advised. "There's too much unrest. Some of them still are sore at Manager Walter Alston because they think he beat them out of a World Series share last year. I don't know how much ball they're going to play for him unless he changes his way of handling them, and I don't think he knows how to do that."

Open Break Exists

From the wordy wrangle which has been going on for several days between Alston and Jackie Robinson, there can be no doubt that the 36-year-old Negro star was one of those players who was under discussion. There exists now virtually an open break between the pair, and any Brooklyn fan who believes his club can win without Robinson in there doing his best is an optimist, indeed.

Jackie's open blast at the strange, gloomy man who is managing the Dodgers for the second season stemmed from Alston's failure to use him regularly at third base in exhibition games. Alston replied angrily that he thought Jackie's arm still was sore. Robinson's answer to that was, in effect, that a manager who knew his job would have asked, or at least noted that he was throwing hard in infield drill.

Breach Is Wide

Whatever the right or wrong of it, the incident stands as a clear case of insubordination such as seldom reaches the public print. No matter what apologies are made by Robinson—and he has said that he simply doesn't know how to talk to Alston—nothing is going to make them like or respect each other again, and the Dodgers' chances will suffer accordingly.

Those who know Alston best—if that is the word—will not be at all surprised to see Don Hoak, a .245 hitter, playing third on opening day while the $35,000 a year star who popped off nurses his temper in the dugout.

If the manager benches the slugger Robby for any length of time, the wolves would take large hunks out of Alston, as well as the owners, and force them to make some sort of deal in a hurry.

Might Be Hard To Trade

In his original outburst, Jackie demanded, "If he doesn't want to play me, let 'em trade me." One suspects there is nothing would please the Dodger brass more than to exchange their bundle of temperament for a couple of sound players.

The truth is that Robinson's

Pistons Even Series With Syracuse Nats

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Fort Wayne is all even with Syracuse in the National Basketball Assn. championship playoff today, mostly because the old pros were steady in the back court with the big money at stake.

Guard Frankie Brian and Andy Phillip, who have been around a long time, brought the Pistons through Friday night, 109-102. Brian topped the balanced Fort Wayne offense with 18 points, and Phillip had 15.

It was the Pistons' second straight victory on their home floor, which was moved to Indianapolis to make room for the American Bowling Congress in the Fort Wayne Coliseum. They lost the first two games at Syracuse.

The fifth game of the best of seven series will be played here Thursday night, and the two teams will move back to Syracuse to finish.

A 29-point third quarter, in which they hit 50 per cent of their shots, won the game for the Pistons. They led by three points in the first quarter, by five at the half and by 12 after three. In the fourth quarter they let Syracuse pile up 32 points but protected their lead successfully.

Dolph Schayes scored 28 points for the Nats, 14 of them in the first quarter, but Fort Wayne had seven men in double figures.

Wood-Panel Doors Not Difficult Job For Home Fixers

Wood paneling has come to be a virtual standard for recreation room walls. Thousands of home owners who have built living space into their basements attest to that.

Many of them have found that along with paneled walls, matching doors are desirable—doors custom-made of the same materials used on the walls. The reason is that matching doors blend with the walls, permitting the horizontal or vertical lines of paneling to continue unbroken around the room.

Another factor recommends them: it's easy to produce look-alike natural finishes on two surfaces of identical wood. But take an ordinary door, try to finish it to match paneled walls, and you have a problem. Transparent finishing materials affect different species or grades of wood in different ways.

If polishing off a basement rumpus room is one of your upcoming projects, you can build your own paneled doors for entranceways and in-the-wall cabinets. The outlay of time, effort and cash will be surprisingly low.

An attractive, built-up entrance door can be fashioned by sandwiching a quarter-inch plywood panel between two face layers of 3/4-inch lumber paneling. This produces a door paneled on both sides, so that whether it stand open or closed it's a match for the wall paneling. Also, this door is 1 3/4 inches thick, the most common thickness of stock doors.

First measure the door frame and design the door with overall dimensions 1/8 inch shorter and 1/8 inch narrower than the frame. When the door is hung, this allows 1/16 inch clearance all around.

In selecting tongue-and-groove planks for the face panels, bear in mind that when the boards are fitted together, the joints between them should line up with, or be even with, joints between adjacent wall planks.

Naturally this is of no concern when you are constructing a paneled door for and unpaneled room. In which case you simply select boards which, when fitted together with the outer tongue and groove of the assembly planed away, will produce the desired door width. If either of the outer boards must be ripped (cut narrower) to produce the desired door width, they should not be cut to less than half their original width.

Door faces are built up by edge-gluing the boards and using bar clamps to hold them together while the glue dries. Four bar clamps should be used for a full-sized door. Fairly inexpensive ones are available from hardware stores, but if this expenditure is out of the question, you can easily dream up a wooden gluing jig to serve the same purpose. Clamping action is achieved by wedging the boards into the jig.

Use powdered casein or plastic resin glue for this job. When the glue has set, remove the panels and fasten them to the plywood sheet, using finishing nails. The nails should be long enough to extend through one side of the door, through the plywood, and three-quarters of the way through the other side.

Generally only two or three boards are needed to build up small, paneled cabinet doors. These don't require the plywood core, but should be edge-glued into one piece. When glue has dried, fasten battens to the back of the doors with well-placed wood screws. Battens tend to prevent warping.

Detroit's Indian Population Grows

DETROIT (AP)—Chief Chester Swallow, president of the North American Indian Club of Detroit, says there are more Indians living in Detroit and its suburbs than were there when Antoine Cadillac founded the city 250 years ago.

Swallow, a Cherokee, estimates the Detroit and suburban Indian population at 1,500. They represent 14 tribes, he said, and are arriving at the rate of at least 100 a year.

There's Still Much To Be Done For Maximum Seaway Potential

WHEN Congress approved construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway in a recent session, a congressional battle of more than 30 years reached a successful conclusion. For Escanaba particularly and many other Great Lakes ports, the congressional authorization opened great new possibilities for economic development.

And yet there is much more to be done before the full potentiality of the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes seaway can be attained. Some of these problems were summed up by N. R. Danielson, president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Association in an address delivered to the Michigan Engineering Society at Birmingham, Mich., Saturday, April 2.

Here are some of the pertinent excerpts from the man who played the leading role in the long fight for congressional authorization of the seaway project:

"The navigation facilities to be constructed under the seaway program will cost the United States and Canada together approximately $270 million.

When completed the seaway project will consist of a control dam, a dam and powerhouse and a series of locks and canals. There will be seven locks on the St. Lawrence River, plus the eight locks on the Welland Canal already constructed, all 800 feet long, 80 feet wide and 30 feet over the sills.

"The enabling seaway legislation in Canada and the United States does not include any navigation within the Great Lakes themselves. In effect, this puts a very definite terminus on the deep water system some 22 miles south of Detroit, at the western end of Lake Erie. The relatively low depths of connecting canals (Detroit, St. Clair, Sault Ste. Marie and the Straits of Mackinac unless corrected as nearly as possible simultaneously with the construction of the seaway, may become a deterrent to the expansion of foreign trade. The deepening of the connecting channels will cost approximately $109 million. Our association is supporting this project which is of vital importance to Michigan.

"Another problem that must be ironed out before the seaway can achieve its full potential is the limited expansion capacity of the Welland Canal. The expansion of the Welland Canal should be one of our most important objectives for the coming year. The Welland Canal is wholly a Canadian responsibility. All we can do is to bring these facts to the attention of the right people in the Canadian and American governments."

These projects will take time and some of them, such as the deepening of the connecting canals and expansion of the Welland Canal, have not yet been authorized by the American and Canadian governments.

This time can well be put to good use, however, in our own communities by planning and proceeding with the installations that we will need in our own harbors to take advantage of this new waterway which will bring the ports of the world to our own doorsteps.

Today And Tomorrow

By WALTER LIPPMANN

WASHINGTON—Had the State Department handled the Yalta papers with more discrimination, it would, so I argued in the preceding article, have recognized the difference between the genuine record of agreements and of official papers on the one hand, and on the other the unverified individual jottings which belong to the domain of personal memoirs. Without falsifying the legitimate record, this critical distinction would have decontaminated this collection of Yalta papers of their worst mischief.

Yet with or without the gossip and the chitchat, and in the hindsight of ten years, the student of these papers will find that while it is easy enough to say what he wishes had happened differently in Eastern Europe and in the Far East, it is far from clear and certain even now how a different result could have been brought about.

When we sit in judgment now, we must bear in mind the overriding condition which was decisive for President Roosevelt and his American advisers. This, as many have already noted, was the military situation at the time of Yalta. The Red Army was across the Oder River and within forty miles of Berlin. Eisenhower was not yet across the Rhine. Japan was in occupation of Manchuria, Korea, the whole coast of China, all of Southeast Asia and of Indonesia. The combined, that is to say the British and American, Chiefs of Staff had reported to Roosevelt and Churchill that they must plan for eighteen months of war against Japan. If Secretary Forrestal's diary is correct, General MacArthur was calling for the intervention of sixty Red army divisions in Manchuria.

OVERESTIMATED JAPAN

There were dissenters in the Navy and the Air Force who believed Japan could be defeated by sea and air power. But the consensus of military opinion was that Russian intervention was necessary if the enormous casualties of a landing in Japan were to be avoided. The paramount idea in the minds of most Americans was how to end the war quickly, cheaply, and victoriously, and not how to win the best position for a good political settlement after the war was over. As I recall the mood of Congress and of public opinion at the time, the sacrifice of American lives for the sake of a postwar settlement would have been regarded as verging on betrayal of the vital interest of the American people in saving the lives of their sons. Churchill and Stalin came to Yalta with their eyes fixed on the postwar settlement, and each was prepared to take military risks and to pay a military price. Not so the Americans, beginning with Roosevelt and including almost all the rest of us.

We know now that the military leaders had overestimated Japan's resistance. The Japanese war could have been won, and in fact was won, without the assistance of the Red Army. It is, therefore, true to say that Roosevelt was overanxious to buy Stalin's intervention in the Far East. He could, we now see, have gambled on a victory without Soviet participation. This, however, leaves open the question of what the United States would have done, had Stalin intervened anyway, seizing what he wanted. It is not easy to answer that very iffy question.

In February 1945 in the European theater, there was no margin for gambling as theoretically at least might have been done in the Far East. Had the Red Army sat down, or worse still, made a de facto truce with elements of the German army, the danger to Eisenhower would have been enormous.

THE KEY TO YALTA

The overriding fact was that the Western democracies had become grossly dependent for their security upon the power of the Red Army. In February 1945 they had not yet become able to make themselves secure without, much less against, the Red Army. This is the key to Yalta. It is true that the Western allies had become less dependent than they were from 1941 to 1944, and that American power, if its development had been sustained for another year or two, might have made the West independent and superior. But at Yalta, the West paid the political price for having failed to deter Hitler in the '30s, for having failed to unite and to rearm against him. The domination of the Yalta conference by Stalin was founded upon the weakness of the democratic West in the years before Yalta. From the day Hitler attacked Russia in June 1941—six months before Pearl Harbor—until the middle of 1944 the defense of what remained of Western Europe and the prospect of mounting an invasion to liberate Western Europe and Scandinavia, depended upon the fact that Russia was absorbing the force of Hitler's blows.

No one is a good historian or a fair judge of the mistakes made at Yalta if he allows himself to forget the military weakness of the West during the first years of the war. For the errors, apart from the verbal indiscretions, of the Westerners at Yalta reflected the experience, the wishful thinking, and the rationalizations of men who during long agonizing years had had to depend so much too much upon the fighting power of the Red Army.

Nocturnal Frogmen Grab Off Prisoners In Quemoy Training

KAOHSIUNG, Formosa—(NEA)—A "War of the Water Ghosts" is being fought around Quemoy. Frogmen of either side swim the thin sheet of water separating Nationalist Quemoy Island from Red Chinese bases.

Their primary assignment: Get a look at the enemy's position; bring back a prisoner sufficient to be questioned. Both sides recently grabbed each other's sentries.

In operations as carefully rehearsed as a ballet, "water ghosts" slip onto enemy beaches. They overpower a guard. Then, using lifesavers' techniques they swim him to a waiting sampan or rubber boat for the short paddle to a POW camp.

With fears of atomic horrors clouding spring in Washington, America debates what to do about Quemoy. Hard news of final Communist preparations to assault Quemoy could decide the debate—and flame the world. Such news might be brought by a young Nationalist "water ghost" after a midnight dip wearing trunks and rubber fins.

At this Nationalist naval base I photographed "water ghosts" being trained by a veteran U. S. frogman, Navy Chief Arthur Stanfield, 32, of South Fort Mitchell, Ky. Stanfield, durable as a hack-saw, landed on Normandy beach before D-Day to explode underwater obstacles, a poor insurance risk.

He hardens volunteer Nationalist cadres who in turn prepare hundreds of water "ghosts." Stanfield's routine would send a farm horse AWOL. Troopers who never swam before are dumped into rough water after three weeks training. They make one mile or are busted in disgrace to careers polishing rice. Later they must swim eight miles with explosives—and keep their powder dry enough to blast Communist seaside installations. Stanfield favors the breast stroke or the leg-scissor kick. They create little splash to attract guards.

He favors the left hand over the mouth and the right—with a knife—under the heart for silent slaughter. No shots, please! A shot

U. S. NAVY CHIEF Arthur Stanfield trains Chiang's frogmen.

So They Say

After the German contribution is effective and if we can assume that atomic weapons will be used to repel an act of aggression, we will have reasonably good assurance that we shall be able to defend Europe.—Gen. Alfred Gruenther.

A star is somebody who producers know will automatically add to the profits at the box office.—Lloyd Nolan, movie actor.

The die is cast relative to Quemoy and Matsu Island groups. Regardless whether she receives American aid, Nationalist China will stake her future on all-out defense of these islands.—Chiang Kai-shek.

There has passed from the contemporary scene a vigorous champion of justice and equality for all of our citizens.—President Eisenhower on death of Walter F. White.

OVER THE SIDE OF RUBBER BOAT goes a Nationalist "water ghost." He must swim eight miles with that package of explosives.

LAND TECHNIQUE OF "WATER GHOSTS" is demonstrated for Fred Sparks' camera by Nationalist frogmen, who show how they take enemy sentry by surprise after sneaking up on the beach.

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

(NEA Washington Correspondent) WASHINGTON—(NEA)—A new story on Britain's Queen Elizabeth II and Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill has just reached Washington via the diplomatic grapevine. It happened at the London conference of the nine British commonwealth prime ministers.

They were all received by the queen at a Buckingham Palace dinner. Churchill was seated on a divan. Mohammed Ali, prime minister of Pakistan, was standing near.

"Sit down, Mr. Prime Minister of Pakistan," said Sir Winston. "Sit down and have a brandy."

Mohammed Ali indicated he didn't care for any.

"Then have some champagne," urged Sir Winston.

Mohammed Ali replied he didn't drink. He was a teetotaler.

"A teetotaler!" exclaimed the British prime minister, suddenly realizing that the prime minister of Pakistan was a Mohammedan, and therefore took no alcohol "God!" exclaimed Sir Winston. "I mean Bhudda!—I mean Allah!"

The remark was overheard, and the next day one of the guests had occasion to ask the queen if she had heard it.

"Yes," she replied. "Philip could hardly wait till after dinner to tell me about it."

"You know," she added, "we're going to promote the butler. We're going to put him on the palace football eleven. He overheard the remark, too, and he dropped his tray. But he caught it without spilling a drop before it touched the floor."

ANOTHER CHURCHILLIAN gem was not caught by the official reporters in Parliament, though it happened in that distinguished assembly. As the prime minister walked to the government bench, one of the members was speaking. Sir Winston is becoming increasingly hard of hearing, so he leaned towards the minister sitting next to him and whispered loudly, "What's he saying?"

"He is saying that he is modest about speaking," replied the bored minister.

The prime minister looked the speaker over for a moment and then mumbled, "No man has a better right."

SECRETARY OF TREASURY George Humphrey has a habit of giving his chauffeur, Ignatius Perry, a periodic ride in the back seat.

Treasury officials are bug-eyed once a week to watch the boss open the car door for Perry, see the chauffeur climb in the back seat, and then observe Humphrey take the wheel and drive off. This routine takes place most every Tuesday afternoon at four, when Humphrey goes to the weekly meeting of the Foreign Economic Council in the old State Department building, a block away.

The secretary drives his personal car because the meetings usually last well past normal quitting time for the chauffeur. When he arrives at the old State building, Humphrey gets out at the entrance. Perry hops in the front seat, parks the car, leaves a note for the secretary where he has left it, and takes off for the rest of the day.

AT THE LUNCHEON which Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson gave for the newspaper cartoonists who had sent him the originals of drawings which lampooned his boners, John F. Fichetti of NEA Service remarked: "This is not my first visit to the Pentagon, Mr. Secretary. I used to work here."

"Is that so?" asked Wilson. "What did you do?"

"I was a Signal Corpsman in the code room during the war," said Fichetti. Then he blacked out the secretary with the explanation: "I handled Annie Lee Moss' job—juggling red tape."

THERE ARE AN AWFUL LOT of brother acts in high places of the Republican administration.

There's President Eisenhower and his brother, Milton, who though not on the government payroll full time, has done special jobs for Ike, like the mission to South America.

Then there's Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and his brother, Allen, who heads Central Intelligence Agency.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell has his brother, Samuel M. Brownell, heading up the U. S. Office of Education.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., head of the U. S. mission to the UN, has a younger brother, John Davis Lodge, working as ambassador to Madrid.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Randolph W. Burgess is the brother of Director of Census Robert W. Burgess.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, commander in chief at NATO, is the brother of Homer H. Gruenther, assistant to the deputy assistant to the President.

Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Nathan F. Twining and his brother, Maj. Gen. Merrill B. Twining deputy chief of staff of the Marines, get together frequently in Joint Chiefs of Staff meetings at the Pentagon.

It's easy to lose friends by agreeing with people who say they look bad.

The Doctor Says ... Exercises Can Be Helpful For Some Eye Disorders

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Mrs. G. has written asking for a column about the use of eye exercises for fatigue of the eyes or for other disorders of these essential organs. This is a good question, particularly because there have been a number of articles in popular magazines concerning the use of eye exercises for the improvement of vision.

There is a good deal of confusion on this subject. Actually the confusion is justified because there are still several points about the use of eye exercises which have not yet been settled even by physicians who have studied this matter most carefully.

THERE ARE DEFINITE and accepted uses for eye exercise. This is spoken of as the field of "orthoptics." In certain kinds of squint, which is a condition in which the two eyes do not focus together satisfactorily, eye exercises have real value. Of course, they must be taken under the direction of someone who knows how to give the proper exercises because the wrong ones might make the situation worse rather than better. The reason exercises are helpful in such conditions is that they train the eye muscles to work together as was intended when nature gave people two eyes rather than one.

THERE ARE SOME reasons for believing that the proper kinds of exercises may help a few other eye conditions. But the problem is far from simple. One part of the seeing process is focusing the picture on the back part of the eye. Others involve carrying that picture through the nerve pathways to the brain. Some of those who have studied these processes feel that orthoptic training may do more to "educate" the brain than it does to improve the muscular action of the eyes in bringing about better sight.

There are some things which we know eye exercises cannot do. They cannot be expected to make a small eye larger or a large eye smaller. They will not change the shape of the eye permanently, and thus cannot be expected to serve as a satisfactory substitute for properly fitted glasses when a person is shortsighted, long-sighted, or has astigmatism.

IT IS PRACTICALLY certain also that exercises will not be of benefit in such diseases of the eyes as glaucoma or cataracts, though the claim has been made for some improvement of the latter. The majority of eye specialists do not feel that exercises will help in such eye diseases and feel that they may be harmful because they are likely to delay the beginning of proper and more satisfactory methods of treatment.

Studies on eye exercises are continuing. It seems likely that exercises will be found to have value in a few disorders of the eyes but can never be substituted successfully for other measures of treatment including glasses, special drugs, and surgery.

Big Crowds Go To Hell, Mich.

AP Newsfeatures
HELL, Mich.—“If you want the best of property go to Hell!”
Thus, resort owners in this Michigan community (population 10 in winter and 10,000 in summer) cry in newspaper advertisements that the gates of Hell are open and resort opportunities are bountiful.

Curious passersby stop, look in amazement, and lean against a sign saying “Hell Michigan” while companions snap their pictures.

The community lies 62 miles northwest of Detroit.

Hell's proprietor currently is Erdly Van Sickle. A 54-year-old real estate man, he inherited most of Hell and its surrounding resort property from his mother two years ago.

Van Sickle likes to think of Hell as the 565 acres he either owns or has sold. It encompasses Highland Lake and has all the qualities of a summer paradise. This area, including Hell proper, sometimes is known as Highland Lake.

THIS IS HELL—The sign is a popular target for photographer summer visitors.

Hell itself consists of a half acre containing one country store, a connecting gas station and a restaurant. The restaurant is forced to close in the winter because, as Van Sickle puts it, “Hell freezes over.”

Van Sickle's wife, Armalee, says “some church people are always after us to change the name of our community. They're awful strict and they raise quite a rumpus, but we'd never take our sign down.”

“Hell got its name way back before the Civil War started—we couldn't disrupt history like that.”

A nearby Pinckney hotel owner named George Reeves actually founded the site when he built a flour and saw mill there. The community flourished. Old timers say a whiskey still and saloon were active.

Whiskey was sold for a dime a gallon, but the still's proprietors wouldn't sell less than a barrel.

The legend goes that one day a lumberjack asked Reeves what he was going to call his town. Reeves, reportedly bright-eyed from sampling 15 cents worth of white lightning, announced: “I don't give a damn, call it Hell if you want.” They did.

Priorities Asked On Salk Vaccine

DETROIT (AP)—The American Academy of Pediatrics has recommended three top priority groups for the limited supply of the Salk Polio vaccine.

The Academy Monday urged physicians to “reserve the vaccine for pre-first grade children over one year of age; for school children in grades three through eight and for pregnant women.”

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis already has announced it has reserved free vaccine for first and second graders whose parents want them to be inoculated.

The Academy said it was making the recommendation in the event the vaccine is proved to be effective against polio. That verdict will be given April 12 when Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., head of the Poliomyelitis Evaluation Center at the University of Michigan, reports on the findings of last year's field tests.

The Academy's resolution is not binding on its 4,200 member physicians.

Mrs. Van Sickle, the government began taxing whisky. Revenues arrested the still operators because no one would pay more than a dime a gallon for the whisky.

When both mills burned down in the 1870's, Hell became nonexistent for a time. But now, Hell has some 10,000 resorters jamming Highland Lake all summer.

“We continually get letters from people all over the country asking for one back post-marked from Hell,” says Mrs. Van Sickle. “What they don't realize is that we don't have a post office and can't oblige them.”

“Then there was a newspaper reporter who called all the way from Newark, N. J., one summer asking how hot it was. It was only 105 that day.”

Lake Superior Ice Delays Start Of Iron Ore Shipping

DETROIT (AP)—Great Lakes shippers, standing beside piles of iron ore at one end, and hungry steel furnaces at the other are waiting for one thing—the breakup of ice in Lake Superior.

A Detroit weather bureau survey of ice indications showed that Whitefish Bay was solid with ice. A Canadian pilot also reported that Thunder Bay is still iced in.

There were also reports of extensive ice floes, sometimes as large as ice fields, in the southern part of the western Lake Superior region.

The ice appears to be solid from Keweenaw Point, along the southern shore to Whitefish Bay. Ice floes are reported west of Isle Royale.

Some 20 to 30 boats have navigated the Straits of Mackinac, and The North About Channel is clearing well. The south channel is clogged with about 50 per cent drift ice.

New Law Upheld In Appeals Court

NEW YORK (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals has unanimously upheld the new law designed to compel witnesses to testify under immunity from prosecution in cases involving the national security.

There were notes of reluctance in the three judges' decision, however, as the law passed its first test of constitutionality.

Chief Judge Charles E. Clark said in a separate opinion: “I concur but regretfully.”

The unanimous opinion, written by Judge Jerome N. Frank, suggested that the case should be heard by “18 other” ears—the nine-member U. S. Supreme Court.

The case, decided Monday, is expected to reach the Supreme Court ultimately.

Specifically, the Court of Appeals affirmed a six-month jail term imposed on William Ludwig Ullman, former Air Force major and government civilian employee, for contempt of court.

Ullman twice refused to testify before a grand jury here investigating a Washington wartime espionage ring after immunity from prosecution had been granted to him under the new law by U. S. District Judge Edward Weinfeld.

Ullman, 47, has been accused a number of times of being a former Soviet spy inside the Pentagon.

In refusing to answer questions before the grand jury, Ullman contended the government was invoking the new immunity law as a device to entrap him into a perjury charge, even though the immunity granted would make it impossible for him to incriminate himself as a spy.

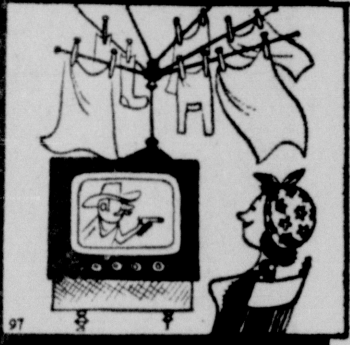

He was sentenced last March 8.

'Dial-It-Yourself' Long-Distance Net Grows—

Tiny pinholes form odd patterns on the paper tape at left. Each dot has a meaning which later is transferred automatically to the perforated card at right. Date, time, number called and length of conversation are all in the dots.

Backbone routes of the nationwide long distance toll switching plan are shown in symbolic lines on the map. They connect the regional centers and various sectional centers with St. Louis, the national center. An intricate toll network will connect these points with other communities.

With the inauguration of dial-it-yourself long-distance telephone service in northern Ohio, one more link in the system which Ohio Bell and other telephone companies are throwing across the country has been completed. Dialed long-distance telephoning is expected to be in nationwide operation by 1965. In the new northern Ohio network, you can dial long distance to 60 cities, including some points in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. You dial it just as you do for a local call. If the caller doesn't know the number, he simply dials "0" to get it from the operator. While the mechanics are complicated, the system is simple. A carefully worked-out numbering plan prevents local and long-distance calls from being scrambled. Most spectacular gadgets are the perforators which assemble data on each call to record charges automatically. Information is transferred from long tapes spotted with polka dots to individual punch cards. Each raised dot, similar to those in the Braille system of reading for the blind, records a fact concerning the call. First city to get long-distance dialing was Englewood, N. J., in 1951.
